- Member ID number
- Provider information (name, NPI, tax ID #)
- The Angle claim ID

You and the member have the right to review the relevant documents we used to make our decision on the claim. A copy of the specific rule, guideline, or protocol relied upon in the adverse benefit determination will be provided free of charge upon request. You and the member have one hundred and eighty (180) days from the claim's paid date to file an appeal. When to expect a decision

- If you or the member disagrees with Angle's processing of your first appeal, you may file a second appeal.

What happens next in a second appeal

If you or the member files a second appeal, we will review our decision and provide a written determination. If we continue to deny the payment, coverage, or service requested, in some circumstances the member may be able to request an external review of the denied claim by an independent third party, who will review the denial and issue a final decision.

Your privacy

Our members' health information is confidential. Any information sent to us will be kept private. When contacting us about this notice or for help with other questions, please be prepared to provide the member's name, member ID, and date of birth.
